Scotch Map

Many countries produce whisky, but Scotch can only be made in Scotland and by definition must be distilled and matured for a minimum of 3 years. Malt whisky is usually classified in one of six main categories: Island, Highland, Lowland, Speyside, Islay, and Campbeltown. According to the geographical location of the distillery in which it is made. In many ways, the geography and climate of each region influences the character of the whisky produced there.

Scotch Tasting Notes

Light

This end of the horizontal axis houses whiskies whose characteristics exhibit fresh flavors such as green grass, soft fruits and cereal. Such flavors tend to reflect the processes followed by a distillery, such as fermentation or size and shape of the stills.

Rich

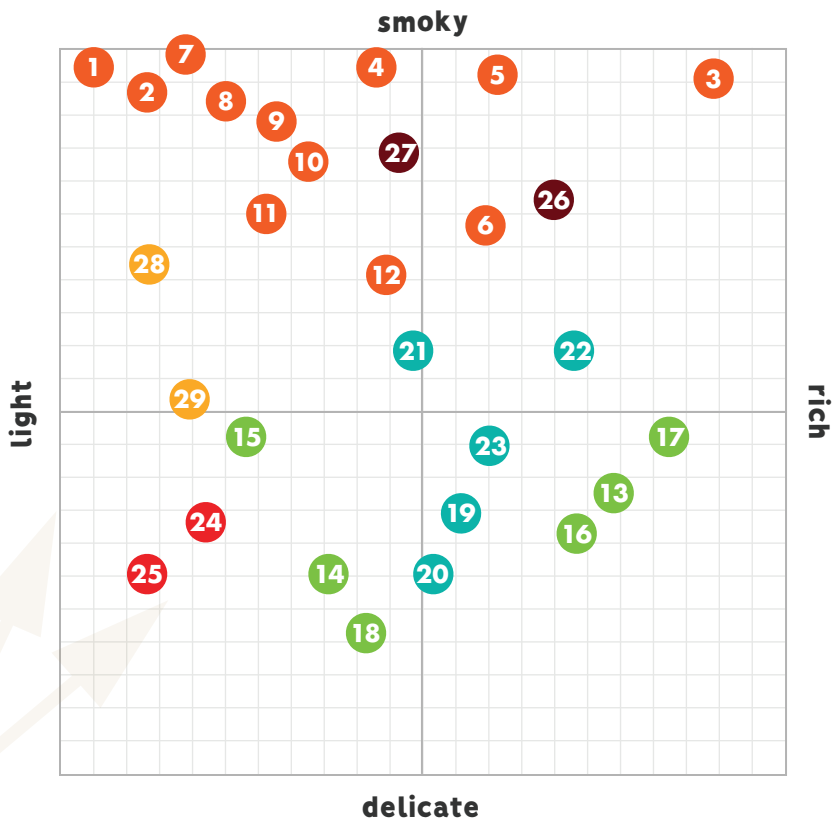

Whiskies at the rich end of the axis contain characteristics often derived from the nature of the wood used during maturation. Typical flavors range from vanilla to nuttiness, cigar box, chocolate and dried fruit.

Smoky

Single malts found in the two smoky quadrants all contain discernible levels of peat, which is burned in the malting process. Flavors range from scented smoke and bonfires to black tea.

Delicate

While movement down the axis increases in complexity, there is discernibly less smokiness derived by peat. Towards the light end there is a floral, grassy freshness. Moving towards the richer side introduces, subtler nutty, barley and biscuity flavours.

Scotch Tasting Notes

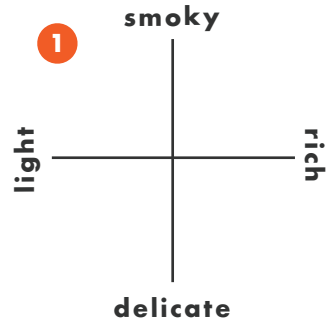

Islay

1 Ardbeg

11

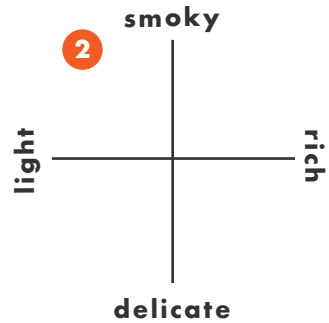

Ardbeg is one of our favorite distilleries on Islay. Ardbeg's tend to come in at a much higher proof, are very peaty, and always very good. While it does have a good amount of smoke, Ardbeg is all about the peat.

2 Ardbeg Dark Cove

22*

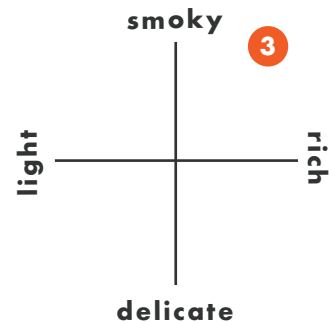

This wonderful, limited release expression from Ardbeg was introduced on the distillery's opening day as a part of the yearly Islay Festival. It is matured in a combination of ex-sherry and ex-bourbon casks. This is a smoky and spicy dram with a hint of sweetness.

3 Ardbeg Kelpie

25*

This is released on Ardbeg day and is a limited release scotch. It is a combination of whiskies aged in virgin black sea oak casks and bourbon barrels, thus it's rich and has an intense flavor. In this one you'll find notes of pepper, toasted toffee, Turkish coffee and dark chocolate with a hint of smoky bacon.

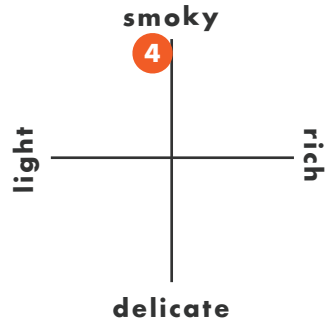

Scotch Tasting Notes

Islay

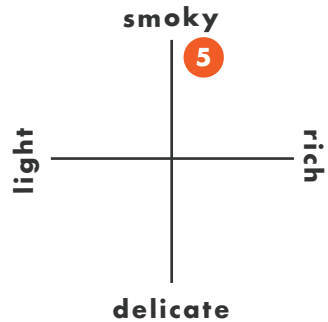

4 Ardbeg Uigeadail 11

This one is named after the loch that provides the fresh water to the distillery. This scotch is a special vatting of different styles of Ardbeg. It has traditional deep, smoky notes married together with a sweet, raisiny tone of old ex-sherry casks. This one comes in at 108.4 proof.

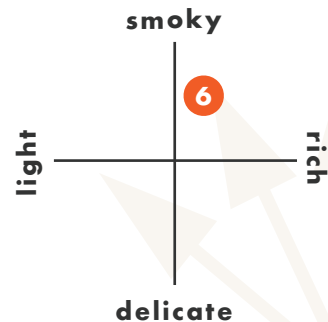

5 Lagavulin 16 yr 16

Located on the Southern coast of Islay, just a short walk from Ardbeg, Laphroaig, and the small town of Port Ellen. Founded in 1816, this whisky is known for its heavily peat-smoked malt, medicinal qualities, and pungent smoky flavor; largely considered one of the best worldwide.

6 Bowmore 12 yr 12

Bowmore was the 1st legal distillery on Islay. It received its license in 1779 and is located near Port Charlotte on Islay. This complex yet perfectly balanced whisky is a staple amongst true Islay fans. It will hit the spot every time. If you ever get the chance, take our friends' Nate and Joy's suggestion and try it with some raw oysters if they are available. The salty brine of the oyster and the smoke and peat love each other.

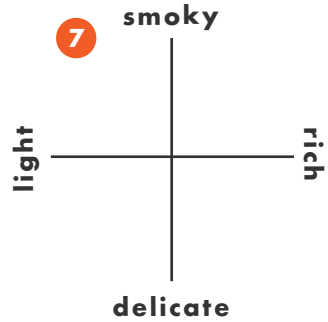

Scotch Tasting Notes

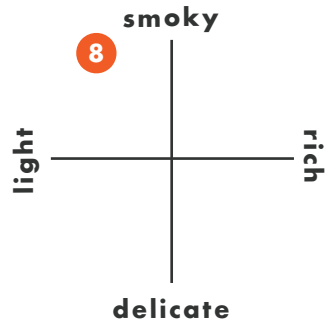

Islay

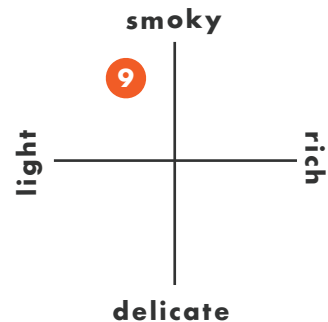

7 Octomore 20
Bruichladdich Distillery located in Port Charlotte on Islay is one amazing place. Octomore, named after the farm that grows the crops for Bruichladdich, has “the most heavily-peated barley humanly possible”. They actually hold the world record for the most smoky scotch. Let’s just say for a scotch that is this smoky, it is an amazing dram.

8 Laphroaig 10 yr 11
Located at the start of an incredible “whisky walk” located just outside of Port Ellen, Laphroaig 10 is a full bodied, smoky scotch with a touch of saltiness and ends with a nice warm, peaty finish.

9 Laphroaig Quarter Cask 11
Aged in smaller casks that give it 30% more contact with the wood which helps it mature quicker with a much more complex and woody flavor. It has a long and tasty finish.

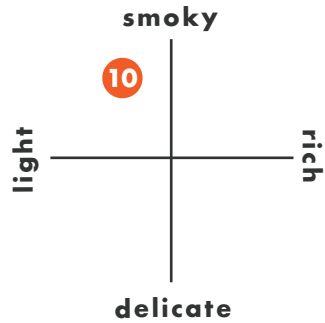

Scotch Tasting Notes

Islay

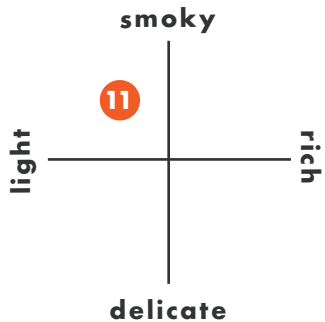

10 Laphroaig Select 14

This expression from Laphroaig is a blend of some quarter cask, PX cask, and triple wood. They used new American oak barrels to finish it. This is a very nice whisky, a bit lighter in color, flavor, and aroma than the 10 year, but it is definitely a great dram.

11 Laphroaig Lore 24*

They say that “the lore is the story of Laphroaig, a massive whiskey as bold as it is deep, it is our story, bottled, the richest of the rich”. It is a blend of many barrels, the quarter casks, Oloroso Hogsheads, and some of the 22-23 year old juice. It is a big and bold whiskey with great balance.

12 Laphroaig 25 yr 66*

This is a great blend of sherry and oak flavors made with European Oloroso sherry casks, and is as creamy as it is smooth. The Oloroso sherry casks and ex-American bourbon barrels were filled with newly distilled Laphroaig spirit from day one. Bottled at cask strength, it is a perfect fusion of these two different styles of maturity. After 25 years it has matured very gently and finishes incredibly smooth.

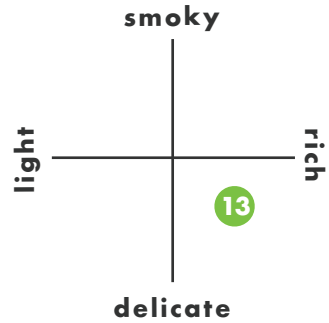

Scotch Tasting Notes

Speyside

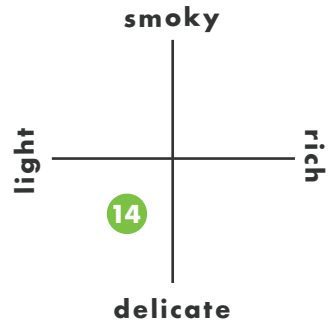

13 Balvenie 12 yr 12

Aged for about 10 years in bourbon casks and finished for 2 years in sherry casks, this Speyside scotch from Ellis Island dates back to 1866. Balvenie has become one of the best known distilleries in Scotland. This is a very pleasant whisky that should be enjoyed often.

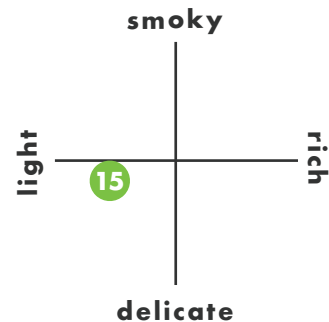

14 Glenlivet 12 yr 12

Opened in 1824, they were among the first to take advantage of the legalization of whisky distilling in Scotland under George IV. It has a nice lengthy, moderate finish with steady warmth throughout the dram.

15 Dalwhinnie 15 yr 14

One of the nicer Speyside whiskies on our shelf. It is elegant and smooth with medium body and fruity on the palate with a hint of leather in the finish. For Highland or Speyside scotch drinkers, this one is a staple.

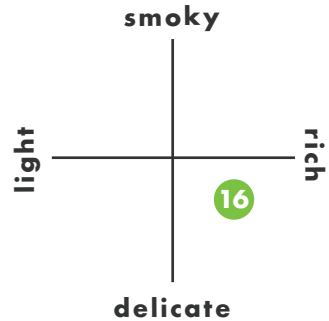

Scotch Tasting Notes

Speyside

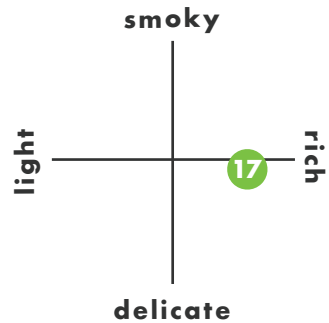

16 Macallan 10 yr 12

Macallan is one of the bigger and more well-known distilleries. Aged in ex-sherry and ex-bourbon casks, this whisky delivers a nice punch with a very nice mature finish.

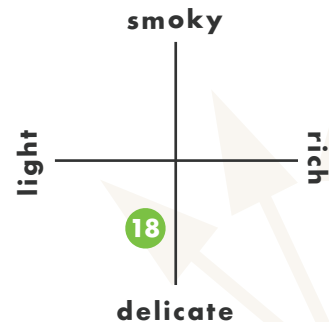

17 Macallan 12 yr 16

This whisky is made with 100% malted barley and is around 86 proof. The flavors are well-balanced with dry sherry notes and finishes with a pleasant warm feeling on the palate.

18 Glenfiddich 12

Started in 1887, the "Valley of the Deer" is one of the most recognized labels in the world. It is matured in American oak and oak sherry casks for a minimum of 12 years. This Speyside scotch has a medium body with a fruity and toasty nose and ends with a touch of smoke.

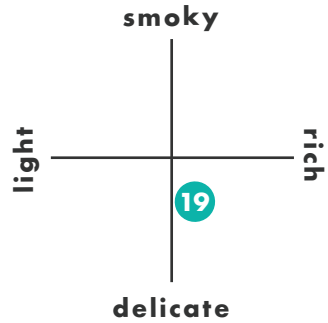

Scotch Tasting Notes

Highland

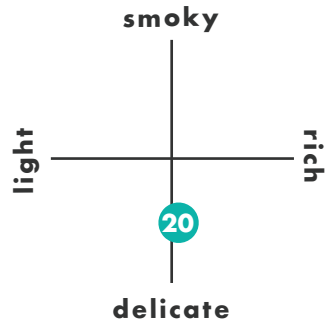

19 Dalmore 12 yr 12

The name Dalmore is derived from a combo of Norse and Gaelic and translates to “big meadowland”. They use “Loch Lomond Stills”, then age it in bourbon barrels for 9 years, then in sherry butts for 3 years. Overall, an easy drinking whisky.

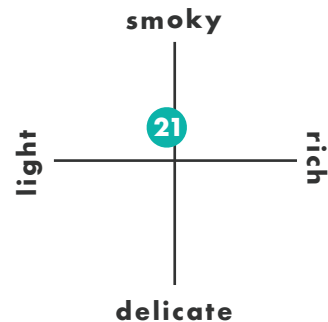

20 Glenmorangie 11

Glenmorangie started as a farm brewery and began distilling in 1843. This is considered one of the better scotches around. It's light, fruity, and malty, without being overly sweet. It has a wonderful aroma and delicious flavor. This is surely an everyday scotch for many.

21 Oban 14 yr 14

Founded in 1794, even before the town of Oban existed, this 86 proof, 14 year old single malt has a nice Highland finish. With nice acidic notes and a bit of salt flavor, it is a very balanced, easy drink scotch.

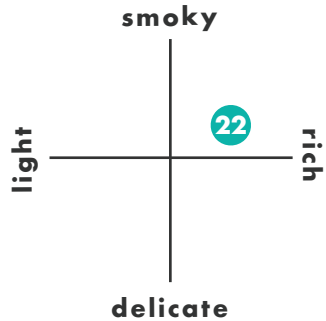

Scotch Tasting Notes

Highland

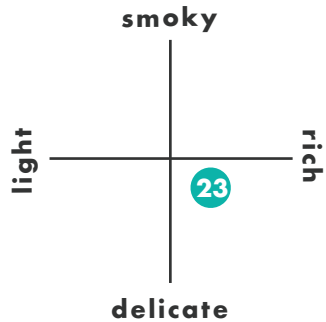

22 Oban 18 yr 22*

Much like the 14 only very hard to find. This is even more amazingly smooth than one could imagine. This is very similar to the Macallan 18, but a bit dryer and way gentler. This is a very nice 18 year old single malt at a very nice price.

23 Shackleton 50*

There is too much to write about this one, so ask to see the bottle which contains a wealth of knowledge about this amazingly stored whisky. Try it while it is around.

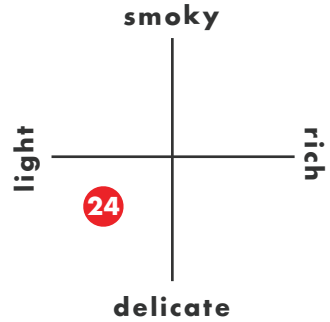

Scotch Tasting Notes

Lowland

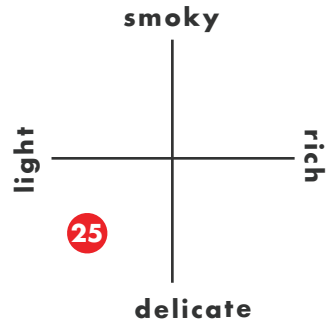

24 Auchentoshan 12

The distillery lies at the foot of the Kilpatrick Hills, right outside of Glasgow. They are the only distillery to use triple distilling instead of the normal double, which usually has less impurities and higher alcohol content. Matured in American oak, Spanish Oloroso sherry casks, and Pedro Ximenez sherry casks. It has a very nice wood flavor with a very nice touch of sweetness, which makes for a very fine dram.

25 Glenkinchie 12 yr 10

Glenkinchie is the "Edinburgh malt" located 15 miles from the capital of Scotland. This Lowland scotch has a nice light smoke with a grain forward body. It is a nice all around smooth, easy drinking, blended scotch.

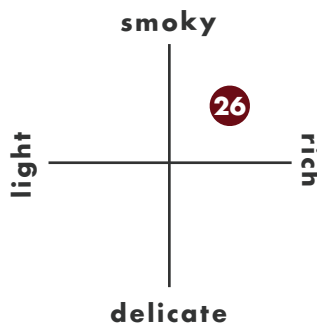

Scotch Tasting Notes

Island

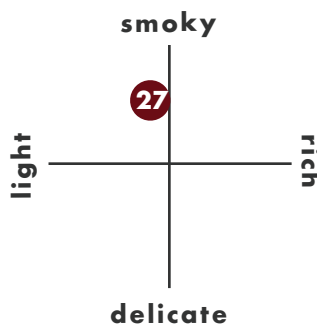

26 Highland Park 12 yr 12

Founded on Orkney Island, it is Scotland's northernmost distillery. It is one of the few distilleries to carry on the tradition of floor-malting, a labor intensive process where barley is spread across the floor and hand spread to prevent germination before being kilned with peat. With very subtle peat and smoke, this is a very smooth yet complex whisky.

27 Talisker 10 yr 12

Made on the Isle of Skye with roots as far back as 1825, Talisker is made by the sea and comes with a nice vibrant and briny finish. It has a very nice peaty and smoky influence, while it leaves you with a subtle aftertaste that lingers and makes you want another sip.

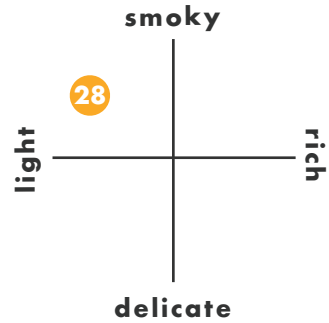

Scotch Tasting Notes

Cambeltown

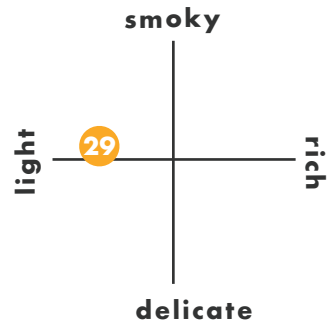

28 Springbank 10 yr 14

This is one of our only Cambeltown whiskies. It is the oldest independent, family-owned distillery in Scotland. It is a medium colored whisky with a nice amount of heat and spice. It has a long-lasting aftertaste with salty and peaty flavor. Truly a unique whisky from one of the lesser-known regions. We would highly recommend this whisky to anybody who likes scotch with a big and bold flavor.

29 Springbank 15 yr 14

Springbank malts, kilns, mills, and mashes its own barley. It sits at a very easy 92 proof, with a nice sweet and earthy aroma. It is not a heavily peated whisky, but does have a moderate amount of peat influence. Its robust sweet and spiciness makes it one of our most enjoyable experiences from a very historic and acclaimed distillery.

Scotch Blends

Famous Grouse

7

This is a blend whiskey made from Highland Park and Macallan, including a significant sherry cask regimen. It is known as one of the best-selling whisky's in Scotland.

J + B

7

This is an extremely entry level scotch. It's not very complex, but easy drinking and one of the most mass-marketed scotches around. If you're going to mix a scotch into a cocktail, this is the one to use.

Stateside

McCarthy's

11

This is an Oregon domestic whisky made by Clear Creek Distillery. The idea of this whisky came from a trip "Steve McCarthy" made when he was in Scotland during the mid-90's, where he discovered he had a taste for peated scotch. When he got home he called his friends at Widmer Brothers Brewery and asked them to order some peated malt and ferment it for him. The malt he uses from Inverness, Scotland is aged for 3 years then finished for two months in Park Cognac 18 year Borderies barrels.

Japanese

Suntory Yamazaki 12 yr

26*

This difficult to find whisky is made in American, Spanish, and Japanese oak casks. It has a unique character about it that is all its own. It's nice and spicy with a hint of sweetness.

Suntory Toki

8

This is a blend of a number of Suntory's whiskies including spirits from Hakushu, Yamazaki, and Chita distilleries. A lighter looking whisky but has a round and sweet blend with a citrus character and spicy finish.

Taketsuru Pure Malt

9

This no age statement whisky features a bit of malt matured in sherry casks to give it a rich spiced nose. It finishes with a smoke of golden barley and a hint of coffee.

Nikka Coffey Grain Whisky

9

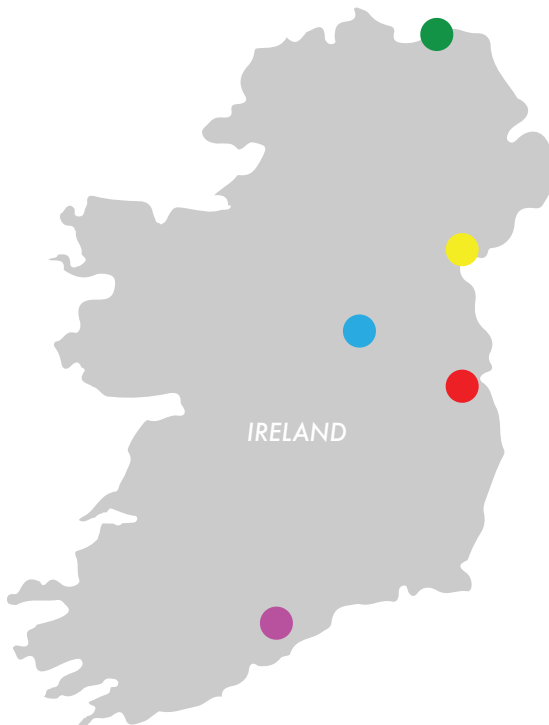

A release of grain whisky from Japan's Nikka, produced mainly from corn using their continuous coffey stills. This is a pleasant whisky that has some smokiness to it, but still comes off a little sweet and light. It is a very easy drinking Japanese whisky.

Irish

2 Gingers

6

A very nice Irish whiskey from County Louth, Ireland. This is a blend of Irish single malt, malted barley, and grain whiskey. A very easy going, smooth Irish whiskey that is wonderful with a touch of ginger ale.

Powers

6.5

From the Jameson family in Middleton, Ireland, this is a very nice whiskey. The super light finish feels nice and warm going down, with flavors of malt, oak, and a touch of caramel and spice.

Powers John's Lane

12

It is a combination of single pot still whiskey aged in two different type of casks, ex-american oak bourbon casks and ex-iberian oak sherry casks. It is on the sweeter side, but has a great kick of malt.

Paddy

6

A very nice "everyday" whiskey. Like most Irish whiskies it is triple distilled whiskey and it has a high blend of malt whiskey, a nice golden color, and a very approachable start and finish.

Clontarf

6

Like most Irish whiskeys, it's triple distilled, however a bit sweeter than most. At this price you will be happy.

Tullamore Dew

6

This is a blend of single pot still, single grain, and single malt. This is a staple among the big Irish whiskeys. It has a warm and buttery feel, and for the price is a very acceptable Irish whiskey.

Bushmills 6.5

Bushmills has been a staple since it was founded in 1608. Bushmills is a fine whiskey. It has a bit of a heavy nose, but ends nicely with a smooth finish.

Bushmills 10 yr 8

This triple distilled single malt Irish whiskey was matured almost exclusively in ex-bourbon casks. It comes across very palatable with a medium body, smooth texture, and a good balance.

Kilbeggan 6.5

One of the things that makes Kilbeggan different from other Irish whiskeys is that it is double distilled rather than triple. It has a nice deep and rich flavor, with notes of wood and honey.

Kilbeggan Single Grain 7

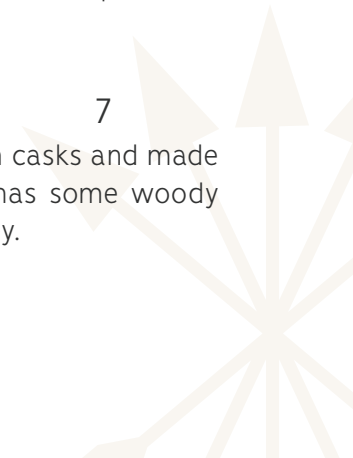

Like its brother, this whiskey is distilled twice instead of thrice. The term single grain here refers to the whiskey made in a single location, using malted barley and at least one other grain.

Connemara 10

This whiskey is known as the only Irish whiskey with a smoky flavor. It is a classic single malt Irish whiskey that has full notes of peat, but followed by a very mild and warm finish.

Teeling Irish 7

This is a simply unique Irish whiskey. It is aged in rum casks and made in small batches. It is sweeter than most, but still has some woody flavor. Overall, it's a nicely done, sweeter Irish whiskey.

West Cork

7

This is the most southern distillery in the Atlantic Archipelago. It is 86 proof and starts off a bit sweet and finishes a bit hot but is a very well done whiskey.

Writers' Tears

10

This is a one of a kind, it is an old Irish, pot still whiskey. It's triple distilled, non-peated, and matured and aged in American oak bourbon casks. In our opinion, this is one of our best Irish whiskeys.

Tyrconnell Single Malt

19

This whiskey has a wonderful aroma and a nice palatable body. With notes of toasted grain, caramel, and toffee, this is a very pleasant whiskey to sip and enjoy.

Tyrconnell Madeira Cask

12

This 10 year aged, 92 proof whiskey is quite nice. It has an herbal nose and a light tart cherry note on the palate. It is a sweeter whiskey, but still comes in a little hot. It's a quality dram and worthy of a taste.

Knappogue Castle 12 year

8

One of the easiest and most approachable Irish whiskeys around. Very palatable, with a fruity taste, particularly of banana and green apple. Nice medium body, and a smooth and satiny texture.

Jameson

7

This is one of the most well-known whiskeys around. It has a slight citrus and floral nose, but with a very well balanced body, that makes this a go-to for many Irish whiskey drinkers.

Jameson Caskmates

8

Using stout barrels, it has a light floral, fruity taste, but finishes with a nice stout caramel and creamy body. This is a marriage of whiskey and stout made in heaven.

Jameson Caskmates IPA

8

This is another Jameson whiskey with some beer influence. It was finished in craft IPA barrels for crisp, hoppy notes. If you are an IPA drinker then this one might be for you.

Jameson 18 yr

22*

This very rare whiskey has traces of vanilla, but well balanced with wood and spice. Overall a very mellow whiskey, each bottle individually named and numbered. Also, a tough one to find.

Green Spot

14

Green Spot is named for a colored marking on the wooden barrel. It is a blend of 7-10 year whiskeys aged in both sherry and bourbon casks. It is a very warm, malty whiskey, which is absolutely enjoyable.

Yellow Spot

16

This is the 12 year version of Green Spot. It is a very good whiskey and quite different from the Green Spot. It is rich, oily, and has a delicious creamy texture.

Redbreast 12 yr

11

It has a warm rich pot still goodness, with notes of spice, citrus, honey, and vanilla, and finishes with an amazing warm and coppery malty flavor. This is one of the best valued whiskies around.

Irish

Redbreast 15 yr

15

This single pot still whiskey is very similar to the 12 year, maybe just a bit more biscuity and a bit more complex. It is also an amazing choice.

Redbreast Cask Strength

17

This is just like the 12 year, but cask strength. This is a big whiskey, definitely comes in hot, and is a roller coaster ride of flavor. It is simply excellent.

Redbreast Lustau

19

The newest edition to the Redbreast family. This is aged in sherry casks for 9–12 years. It is rich, dense and a bit buttery/oily. A very deep aroma and a very nice finish.

Midleton Very Rare

30*

Midleton is very rare, a blend of single pot still whiskey and grain whiskey, and triple distilled. Every bottle is individually numbered and signed. The only thing we will say is to try it, because it is a must have.

Midleton Barry Crocket

45*

This is a no age statement whiskey, but draws from casks up to a quarter century old. This is a great whiskey to try, so don't sleep on this one.

American

1792 Kentucky Bourbon

8

Made in Bardstown, KY, this bourbon is made from a “high rye” recipe. It comes off a bit sweet with notes of oak, dark fruit, caramel, vanilla, and just a touch of spice.

1792 Sweet Wheat

16*

Made in Bardstown, KY, this bourbon is not based from a “high rye”. Notes of toasted grains, toffee, leather, and oak. Also has that heavy dark cherry and dark sweets influence.

1792 Port Finish

22*

The 1792 Port Finish has aromas of toasted marshmallow, baked apples, and a hint of cocoa. Towards the end you can taste the effects of the port barrel. Lower proof, which make it perfect for a Manhattan.

Noah’s Mill

12*

This delightful whiskey comes from the Willett family and comes in at a staggering 114.3 proof, wow! Front of the palate and nose spice notes of cinnamon and allspice, some barrel notes, soft cream, and caramel.

Hudson Bay Baby Bourbon

12

This was the first legal aged grain spirit to be produced in New York since Prohibition ended. This very young whiskey has corn, oak, and vanilla influence, and you might find it is tasty with your favorite cigar.

Booker’s Bourbon

15

Named after Frederick Booker Noe II, Jim Beam’s grandson, this whiskey is a hot one at 128.5 proof. While it comes in extremely hot, you might find some good tastes of the aged wood, some leather, and maybe a solid nutty scent. This is one of the best barrel strength old school whiskey’s around.

American

Four Roses Single Barrel

8

Made by master distiller Jim Rutledge, this 60% corn high-rye mash is also a higher proof whiskey. It is quite smooth for the proof with a nice gentle touch of honey and vanilla on the palate.

Heritage Brown Sugar Bourbon

8

Heritage is a craft distillery from Big Harbor, WA. This is a sweet, rich, creamy, and nutty whiskey. Not great for a Manhattan but sure to please on the rocks if you are looking for a sweet treat!

Blanton's

12

Notes of citrus and toffee on the nose, and finishes with sweeter vanilla, caramel, and floral notes. Each cork has a different stage of a horse race and a letter to spell out "Blanton's". Collect them all.

Basil Hayden's

11

From Jim Beam's "Small Batch Bourbon Collection". It has very soft notes of roasted pear, golden raisin, oak, and comes across a bit vegetal. Very soft and light aftertaste that is always enjoyable.

Knob Creek

9

Aged 9 years, comes in at 100 proof. It starts pretty hot, but settles in to a medium body. Hints of orange, oak, and a bit of caramel. A few drops of water really opens up the nose.

Knob Creek Rye

10

Very similar in color and body to Knob Creek, but dominated by its rye spice and herbal qualities. You might find a bit of cinnamon, almond, or woody taste. Overall, a very well done rye whiskey. This one, like regular Knob Creek, also comes in a bit hot on the palate.

American

Maker's Mark

7

Well balanced and easy to drink. It is on the more caramel side with a touch of spice and vanilla taste. This is a great whiskey whether you drink it neat, on the rocks, or perhaps in a Manhattan.

Maker's Mark 46

9

Much like its brother, however it is aged longer in seared French oak staves to seep the bourbon at the end of its aging. Overall, quite a bit mellower, but with a deeper and bigger flavor.

Elijah Craig

9

This is 8-12 years aged, 94 proof, and a really great bourbon. Named after Reverend Elijah Craig, a moonshiner, this whiskey has been a staple for many years and will not disappoint.

Elijah Craig 12 yr

12*

Same as above, but it is aged for 12 years. Quite a bit bolder, deeper, and well balanced at this age statement. It has a good round body with a full oily feel. Be sure to try it before it is gone, as this is hard to find.

Elijah Craig 18 yr

21*

Just like the 12 year, only 6 years older. Very hard to find so try it any time you can, it also has a full body, dark fruit, and oak spice finish. This is a great whiskey.

Angel's Envy

16

Released in 2010, a relatively new whiskey has quickly become a highly sought after whiskey. Finished in port casks, this medium body has very little bite, a nice wood finish, and is very balanced on the sweetness. This is a must try.

American

Angel's Envy Rye

21*

Aged for 6 years in charred oak barrels, this harder to find rye whiskey is 100 proof, but doesn't come off very hot and has a nice spicy, earthy presence. If you like rye whiskey, you will not be disappointed.

Angel's Envy Cask Strength

30*

it's finished in casks once used to mature port. They only release about 8,000 bottles a year. At cask strength it is no surprise that this comes in really hot, but is an amazingly balanced and nice whiskey.

Michter's Rye

9

This whiskey originated in Pennsylvania and is now made in Kentucky. A very nice rye with subtle aftertastes of roasted grain, vanilla, and oak. This medium bodied rye whiskey will not disappoint.

Michter's 10 yr

28*

This is a very limited quantity release bourbon, Nice velvety smell with some notes of dark honey. This bourbon has a bit of heat to it, but overall has a very nice finish. A definite must try.

Templeton Rye

9

This has a nice woody full body aroma. It is bold on the palate with a very subtle after taste. This whiskey represents everything that you love about a rye whiskey.

Eagle Rare

9

Distilled, aged and bottled by Buffalo Trace Distillery. Aged 10 years, and at 90 proof it is a very well balanced woody and oily with hints of molasses. This is a very well done whiskey.

American

Thomas Hardy Sazerac Rye 21*

This is a 127.2 proof, 6 year aged, cask strength rye whiskey, with a bit of sweet cherry, balanced with a warm spiced aroma. A very bold, but balanced whiskey.

Willett Straight Rye 12*

For such a young whiskey, it is incredibly balanced. It is creamy and smooth, with very little burn. It has a bit of a sweet to spice, but leaves you with a nice balanced oak flavor.

George T Stag 24*

A rich and full bodied whiskey, with some sweet notes of tobacco, leather, a bit of vanilla and burnt chocolate. Overall, a full bodied, oily yet elegant whiskey.

I. W. Harper 17*

This 15 year whiskey is distilled at the Bernheim Distillery in Louisville, KY and bottled in Tullahoma, TN. It has a slight burn but balances creamy. It has a nice spicy woody nose.

Jefferson's Reserve Old Rum Cask 12.50

Aged for 8 years then aged for an additional 15 months in old rum barrels that held rum for 16 years. Has an obvious sweetness but is not overwhelming. It is a very fine savory whiskey.

Old Forester Birthday Bourbon 30*

This bourbon has a nice deep spice aroma and is also somewhat sweet. This bourbon is perfect with a bit of water to open the nose, but be careful because too much and it will drown out the nice aftertaste.

American

Woodford Reserve Cherry Wood Smoked 24*

This whiskey comes in at 90.4 proof and made from 30% barley. It has a nice dark cherry aftertaste and a sweet and warm aroma. A very nice whiskey overall.

Elmer T Lee 16*

This medium bodied whiskey has a floral nose and a nice balanced, sweet body. A very nice, smooth whiskey that is sought after by the ones that know their whiskeys.

Weller Antique 12

This 107 proof whiskey has big caramel notes, with a very nice sugary, vanilla and woody finish. The nose is lighter and the body is bigger. This is a damn good bourbon.

Weller 12 yr 20*

This is known as one of the best whiskeys around. This has essentially the same juice in it as the famed "Pappy Van Winkle". This is a must try if we are lucky enough to have it in stock.

Little Book Whiskey 18*

This one comes in hot as you would expect, but is an amazing blend of 4 year bourbon, 13 year corn whiskey, 6 year 100% malt whiskey, and 6 year high rye bourbon.

Pendleton 20 yr 30*

This is currently the only Canadian whiskey we sell. This whiskey has a long, mature, and smooth finish. It is made with glacier fed spring water from Mt. Hood. It's a limited edition whiskey. A must try.

American

Pappy Van Winkle 10 yr

40*

The 10 year comes in at 102 proof. For such a high proof, it is actually quite smooth. It is fruity, sweet, and full of life. All the Pappy's are hard to find and extremely rare.

Pappy Van Winkle 12 yr

50*

The Pappy 12 year is only at 90.4 proof, it is not as hot or fruity. Those two years add a nice depth of oak and increased the acidity. It is a very rare and fine whiskey that must be enjoyed at least once in your life.

Pappy Van Winkle 15 yr

60*

The Pappy 15 comes in at 107 proof. It has a very pleasing smell and is equally nice on the palate. It does come in a little hot, but with a few drops of water it becomes very smooth, with a nice woody aftertaste.

Pappy Van Winkle 20 yr

100*

The Pappy 20 is 90.4 proof and for a whiskey that spent that much time in the barrel, it has aged quite nicely; not as woody as you would expect. This is a 100% must try in your lifetime. It's a very easy going, smooth Irish whiskey that is worth every penny.

Glossary

Dram – A dram is the traditional Scotch Whisky measure, often affectionately referred to as a “wee” dram. There is no clear definition how big a dram is.

NAS – No Age Statement. This is describing whiskies that show no age statement on the bottle. Meaning that they are a combination of ages in the final bottle making it impossible to say an age.

Nose – The smell of a whiskey.

Pot Still – A copper distillation vessel, resembling a large kettle and onion or pear shaped. pot still variables play an important part in determining the character of spirit produced.

Peat – Peat (turf) is partially carbonised, decayed vegetable soil that has been compressed over hundreds of years. It gives off a distinctive smoke when burnt which is very influential in the aroma of some whiskies.

Vatting – A vatted malt is the combination of multiple different single malts from different distilleries.
