

The Coziest Fall Restaurants in New York City

Looking for a restaurant that offers the perfect mix of ambient lighting, stylish autumnal decor and seasonal fall favorites? Luckily, New York City offers up plenty of fabulous fall and winter culinary offerings, whether you're hunting for butternut squash everything or the perfect, Pinterest-worthy foliage to snap pictures. Read on to discover some of the best restaurants for fall that New York has to offer, from a secret garden tucked away in the heart of downtown to the buzzy hot spot lined in candles serving up seasonal specialties.

Ophelia

3 Mitchell Pl 26th floor, New York, NY 10017

Head to the 26th floor of the historic Beekman Tower to take in panoramic views at Ophelia, an Art Deco-inspired cocktail lounge with an indoor and outdoor wraparound patio. The plush interior includes velvet banquettes and jewel tones perfect for a fall day, and the cocktail menu is just as seasonal. Order up an autumnal cocktail like “Take the Fall,” made with aged rum, spiced pumpkin shrub and clove infused maple.