

45 Cozy Winter Cocktails to Serve at Your Next Holiday Gathering

There are two types of people in this world: those who can't get enough of the winter season, and those who approach it with extreme caution. No matter which category you fall under, since you clicked on this article, you might want a drink in your hand when the holidays roll around. (And that time is officially here. Ahhh!)

Classic Hot Toddy

In a mug of hot water, add a ginger-orange tea bag, 0.75 oz. Island Syrup, 0.5 oz. lemon juice, and a dash of Angostura bitters. In another mug, add 1.5 oz. Barrell Whiskey and 0.5 oz. Pineau de Charentes. Pour the contents of the two mugs back and forth to mix, and then pour into a snifter with a cinnamon stick, orange peel, and star anise. Garnish with a dehydrated orange peel.
