COOKING LIKE AMERICANS

At Bubby's we celebrate the patchwork of American culture. The food we cook and the drinks we make are the ever evolving expressions of our collective traditions, heritage and history. American food is so much more than burgers and pie, it's European, Mexican, Asian, an elaborate and flavorful foodscape quilted by generations of people that built America. For 25 years, we have been cooking in a way that is thoughtful, meaningful, healthy and most importantly delicious — like Americans.

BUBBY'S HERO: MARK TWAIN

Mark Twain was hardly recognized as a foodie, but that's what he thought of himself, and he considered his food writing to be his biggest literary contribution. Traveling throughout America Twain wrote in delicious detail about America's wonderful regional varieties and the natural abundance of our land.

PECKING ORDER

We buy our chickens from Bell and Evans and Freebird, both Northeastern sources for antibiotic- and hormone- free chickens that are humanely raised.

THANK YOU!

BUBBY'S HERO: EDNA LEWIS

Celebrating the wide variety of ethnic groups who make up the beauty of the American table, none is more present at Bubby's than the African-American contribution, particularly that of Edna Lewis. From the way we fry chicken, to using all manner of "southern" foods, okra and sesame to barbecue and watermelon, these foods are a direct contribution of the African-American kitchen.
