

Who needs a glass of Riesling?

Emperor Palpatine needs a glass of Riesling.

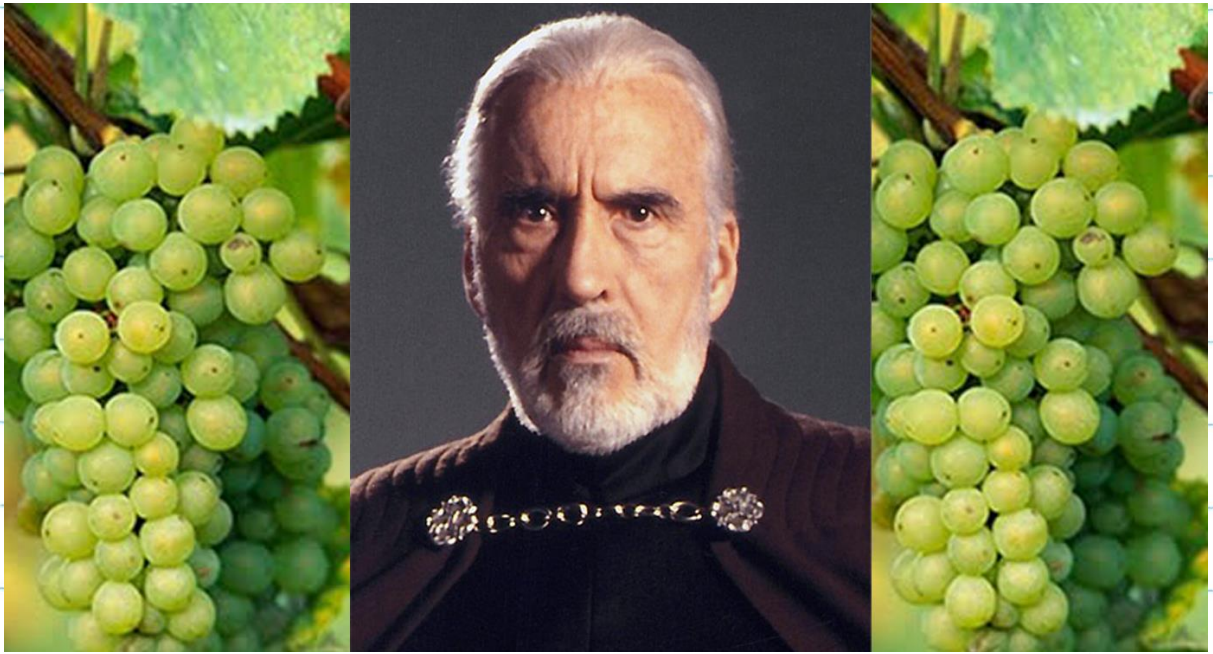

Why?

Because as Senator of Naboo and then Supreme Chancellor,
You need a little refreshment in your day as you lie through your teeth (and what teeth they are!).

Because you killed your mentor Darth Plagueis while he slept, and that was a brilliant play on your part, deserving of utmost respect and befitting a wine of equal brilliance.

Because as Dark Lord of the Sith, you have no soul (you especially have no soul after taking Lindsay Lohan out on a date to Mustafar when she should have been in rehab) and a glass of Riesling might just show you that even the Dark Side can see the Light if it is presented in the right form.

Because using Force lightning is exhausting and nothing revives like a cold glass of riesling.

Who needs a glass of Riesling?

Count Dooku
needs a glass of Riesling.

Why?

Because you abandoned your faith,
becoming a part of the Lost Twenty Jedi warriors who found succor in the Dark Side.

Because you trusted a droid, General Grievous, and dude, if you learned anything from Yoda,
it should be that
you never trust a droid!

Because in consuming a few glasses of Riesling a day, you would have recognized early on that your new master, Darth Sidious, would eventually become your destroyer,
through the hands of the future Darth Vader.