

The New York Times

OFF THE MENU

Veranda, From George Mendes of Aldea, Opens in SoHo

Reservations open for Daniel Boulud's Le Pavillon, Manresa at Intersect by Lexus, and more restaurant news.

By Florence Fabricant

April 27, 2021, 12:44 p.m. ET

Tiny's Cantina

Tucked into a compact space on Flatbush Avenue, this newcomer from Mathew Glazier, who owns Morgan's Barbecue nearby (recovering from a fire at present), features tlayuda, a big tortilla with various toppings. Cenobio Canalizo, the chef, hails from Puebla, Mexico, but he's making the Oaxacan specialty his own with a tlayuda de mole. There is a daily flatbread; the toppings rotate from day to day. A cemita milanese de pollo, a birria taco and esquites, a corn salad, are also on the menu. Agave-based drinks dominate the cocktail list. The space is decorated with tiles and neon, and it will eventually seat up to 40. (Friday)

229 Flatbush Avenue (Dean Street), Prospect Heights, Brooklyn, 718-970-7007, tinyscantina.com.