If you tried to keep track of every brand new restaurant in New York City, you might go a little wild. So just read this list instead. These are the new restaurant openings that seem like they have the most potential - although keep in mind, for the ones we haven't tried, we make no promises. Go forth and be a pioneer.

Editor's Note: All restaurants listed below are open in some capacity. That might mean they're offering takeout, delivery, and/or outdoor dining.

Tiny's Cantina

Last week the team behind Morgan's BBQ opened a central Mexican restaurant in Prospect Heights where they serve tlayudas and cemitas, as well as a bunch of mezcal- and tequila-based cocktails. This new restaurant is about a 10-minute bike ride away from the Brooklyn Botanic Gardens, so keep it in mind on a sunny spring day.
