

Celebrating Memorial Day in NYC

With Memorial Day nearly here, we are helping plan out your holiday weekend, for those of you who will be in NYC! Memorial Day Weekend in New York City is like nothing else you've ever seen. There are a plethora of options on how to spend the long weekend. I might be biased, but I think we have the most fun things going on here. This is how we will be kicking off the summer season and the perfect way to do so is to have a fun three-day weekend. So whether you live here or are visiting, you will be fully ready to live out the holiday weekend to the fullest!

Watermark

It's no secret we love going to the Watermark. This summer, they've turned it into a beach vibe! Located on Pier 15, they will be having a Rosé All Day Fest from 12PM-5PM and then 6PM-11PM on May 29th. Featuring DJ's, cabanas, Rosé, Frosé, grilled bites and more! Tickets are $50 and walk-ins are welcome.

Mezze on the River

Since we live in Battery Park City, we tend to try to find happenings nearby. Mezze is a restaurant located on the waterfront with two outdoor terraces. The food and drinks are phenomenal and you get the best views of all the boats and can enjoy the warm weather. They will be featuring new dishes such as curried lamb meatballs, lobster eggs benedict and crispy crab croquettes. Open for brunch and dinner, you will love this spot!
