FEATURED WINES

Cinque Terre, Vendemmia, Italy, 2022

16 glass/24 quarto/64 bottle
Cinque Terre “Five Lands.” This legendary wine has been the anchor of the Poggio wine list forever. The wine is vinified from the vineyards nestled in the cliffs along the the Ligurian coast, planted since antiquity. The wine is produced thru the Cinque Terre Cooperative sourcing the fruit from growers in the five villages. Tony, our beloved bartender is from Riomaggiore, where his family has grown grapes for years, contributing to the blend. This is no easy task, as the rugged, hillside vineyards, supported by stone terraces, are scattered and steep, making harvest difficult. Influenced by the surrounding sea mist, the softly textured white wine matches beautifully with our seafood dishes.

Cannonau di Sardegna, Riserva, Sella & Mosca, 2019

13 glass/19 quarto/52 bottle
Sardinia Italy is one of the 5 “Blue Zones” on our planet, housing the highest concentration of centenarians in the world. The frequent consumption of Cannonau wine on the Island is thought to contribute to this longevity. Cannonau is a red wine made from the grenache grape, which grows thick skins in Sardinia. The wine has the highest percentage of artery scrubbing flavonoids compared to other wines, making it perhaps the healthiest on our planet. These anthocyanins are powerful antioxidants, thought to reduce inflammation and protect from heart disease, diabetes and cancer. As Sardinia’s foremost wine producer, Sella & Mosca’s, Riserva bottling delivers spicy plum flavors framed in cherry. Nicely balanced with good acidity and firm, beautifully integrated tannins.
