

Make The Most of Fall: Halloween, Cocktails, Travel, Dining and More

Fall is an amazing time of year, the temperatures cool down and you can slowly bring out your sweaters and seasonal menu options return to your favorite restaurants (safely of course). Also, it's a good opportunity to add some flair to your home now that you may be working or teaching from home!

Situated along the East River with unobstructed views of the Brooklyn Skyline, the 5,000 square-foot venue focuses on simple and seasonal modern American cuisine — helmed by Chef Jonathan Haffmans — coupled with a wide variety of craft beers, signature cocktails and an extensive wine list.
