

DATE NIGHT

Stay Warm at These NYC Restaurants

BOOK THIS

Photo courtesy of Watermark Bar

Written by What Should We Do • December 8, 2020

Winter is here, but that doesn't mean your favorite bars and eateries have to close up shop. With the global pandemic throwing challenge after challenge at NYC's restaurant industry, your go-to spots across the boroughs are hunkering down and heating things up with a few updates to their outdoor spaces.

Industry Kitchen in FiDi

This industrial-chic New American eatery reimagines outdoor dining with its festive private glass houses, complete with heaters, holiday decor, and cheery music.

