HI CLASS

LIVING

NYC...

The 2015 Season
of American Ballet Theatre
at David H. Koch Theater

The 2015 fall season of the American Ballet Theatre at the David H. Koch theater starts with an Opening Night Gala on October 21 at 6:30 pm. Highlights of the season include a NYC premiere of a new work by choreographer Mark Morria and company premieres of Frederick Ashton's Monotones I and II. October 21 – November 1, 2015. www.abt.org.

Misty Copeland
Principal Dancer

The New York Philharmonic
2015-2016 Season

The New York Philharmonic 2015-2016 Season starts with an opening Gala Concert on Septeml director Alan Gilbert leads Beethoven's Sy 7 and Grieg's Piano Concerto, featuring The program will be telecast on PBS. wwv

Pardon My French Restaurant in East Village

Pardon My French is a casual bistro-style restaurant and bar at 103 Ave B. The cuisine, under the talented Brazilian/French chef Guilherme Barreto, features Mediterranean influenced tapas and modern interpretations of classic French fare. Highlights include beef tartare with barley chips, mussels marinieres, chicken tagine with lemon confit and Nicoise olives, and truffle fries. Mixologist Simon Sebbah offers innovative cocktails with infused liquors. www.pmf.com.s 212-358-9683.

Industry Kitchen in South Street Seaport

Industry Kitchen is South Street Seaport's newest waterfront restaurant and bar at 70 South Street. The contemporary 5,000 square-foot venue features indoor and outdoor seating with unobstructed views of the Brooklyn and Wil-

Industry Kitchen in South Street Seaport

Industry Kitchen is South Street Seaport's newest waterfront restaurant and bar at 70 South Street. The contemporary 5,000 square-foot venue features indoor and outdoor seating with unobstructed views of the Brooklyn and Williamsburg Bridges and Brooklyn Skyline. They specialize in wood fired entrees, and thin crust pizzas. Order the portobello mushrooms, the cedar plank salmon, and the chocolate mouse. Enjoy signature cocktails, wines, and craft beers.

www.industry-kitchen.com. 212-487-9600.