Mother's Day NYC: Where to brunch, dine and indulge

Mother's Day is this Sunday.

You could buy mom jewelry or perfume but why not express the gratitude you feel with eggs Benedict and pancakes the day of? (Because, let's be real: if you buy her that set of earrings she may or may not like, she'll probably tuck them away in a box where they'll never see the light of day again.)

Make reservations before it's too late, and you can treat her to an extravagant brunch in the city. We've rounded up some of our favorite spots offering holiday specials below:

Irvington

Four specials join the brunch menu at this farm-to-table restaurant inside the W New York Union Square hotel, including a cheesy crab frittata with market greens, buttermilk and waffles topped with strawberries, crème fraîche ice cream and vanilla syrup ($15). Want the chance to play bartender? Order the "Build Your Own Bubbles" special ($75), which lands a bottle of prosecco and three kinds of juices for mixing at your table.
