

The New York Times

OFF THE MENU

By Florence Fabricant

May 21, 2019

Atto

The chef Rogelio Limon brings the skills he acquired at Peter Luger to this new steakhouse, where more than just beef is on the menu. Veal, lamb, chicken, pasta and seafood are featured, with an extensive array of crudo dishes and at an eight-seat raw bar. Sandwiches are served at lunch. There's a bar and lounge at the entrance. The décor is eclectic. The restaurant is owned by Sylvan Hospitality, in which John Lekic and his brother, Mirso Lekic, are partners. (Wednesday)

The Tuscany hotel, 120 East 39th Street, 212-433-4393, atoprime.com.