Welcome to dell'anima

Dell'anima first opened in 2007 in the West Village, quickly becoming a neighborhood favorite. After a successful chapter in Hell's Kitchen, we've returned home to the West Village and we'd be honored to host your next gathering at our table.

Today, dell'anima offers the perfect setting for intimate dinners, team celebrations, and private events.
