Relax... You're In The Hands Of The Fireman Hospitality Group

A watercolor illustration of a two-story restaurant building. The upper floor is made of brick and has four windows with warm interior lighting. The lower floor is a lighter color and features green-framed windows and doors. Each window and door has a green and white striped awning. Two large white patio umbrellas are open in front of the entrance. A long wooden planter box filled with green foliage runs along the sidewalk. A menu board on a stand is visible to the right of the entrance. The entire scene is framed by a green border with a watercolor wash effect.
