WHAT'S IT'S COOL: Versatility is key for the success of any restaurant group, and Rapoport's has it. On one hand, it has the spectacular Deck 84 (voted a Top 100 Al Fresco Dining Restaurant by Open Table), and on the other is Bogart's, which is located in a theater complex. There, theatergoers can dine on modern American cuisine before, during or after a movie. In the fall comes Rappy's Deli, a soulful concept that pays homage to owner Burt Rapoport's father, "Rappy," who operated his own New York deli for decades. The more choices customers have, the more opportunity they have to spend money with you.
