

The best things to do in January

It's a new year, a blank canvas to design exactly how you want to. I'd encourage you to get outside and explore this city of ours, despite the cold temperatures. If you want to embrace the cold, we've got hills to sled and ice rinks to skate. If you'd rather stay cozy, how about an afternoon tea or a museum day? Use our January guide to make this month a solid start to 2025.

Read more

15. Watermark's Pink Pier

Things to do

City Life

 Photo: Courtesy of Watermark

Think pink at Watermark, the classic American restaurant on Pier 15 by the Seaport, is turning into an immersive pink wonderland this month. It's just in time for the peak of New York winter and for Valentine's Day celebrations.

The 10,000 square-foot outdoor bar and restaurant will be lit up in pink hues and be decorated with red flowers, heart installations and mesmerizing twinkling lights. Pink Pier will be open from January 10 until mid-April.

Read More