15 Most Romantic Restaurants For Outdoor Dining In NYC

BY CLAIRE LEADEN • JANUARY 21, 2021

New York City is one of the most romantic cities in the world, hands down.

There's so much to do here with a significant other—from a fine dining experience, to spending an intimate day with famous artwork, or even just sitting on a park bench at Washington Square Park. Our favorite thing, however, is food.

Even Disney's Lady and the Tramp told us as children that food is the way to a loved one's heart (especially pasta)!

So in the spirit of love and Valentine's Day, we've put together some of the city's most romantic restaurants. Of course right now the list is limited to outdoor dining, but you'd be surprised how many cozy, glowing, flowery set-ups there are in the city, perfect for date night. Enjoy:

Where: 78 South St Pier 15

What: This stunning 10,000 square foot venue perched at the end of the beautifully proportioned double-level Pier 15, Watermark offers an exceptional panorama of the Brooklyn and Williamsburg bridges and Brooklyn skyline. Make the most out of these stunning views as you and your group enjoy a s'mores kit in your very own private heated glasshouse! You'll also have the option to order snacks like the Watermark Burger or the Chef's Tasting Menu, and cocktails like Smoke On The Water, Smashing Pumpkins or Gold On The Ceiling. It's the perfect cozy winter experience — make reservations here!
