

GERBER GROUP

October 11, 2018

TOWN & COUNTRY

15 New York City Restaurants Where You Can Celebrate Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving is easily America's top holiday for feasting, but don't despair if spending your day shuffling pans in and out of the oven isn't your idea of a celebration. You don't have to give up on a decadent meal. Whether you're looking to get pampered at the city's fanciest restaurant or you want to get your perfectly cooked turkey and sides via take-away, New York City's dining scene will ensure that you have a holiday that's truly something to be thankful for. To make things even easier, we're rounded up the top New York City restaurants where you can forget about cooking on Thanksgiving and just focus on enjoying your holiday feast.

Irvington

Irvington restaurant in the W Union Square hotel will feature a special menu of holiday favorites with a culinary twist this Thanksgiving. Dishes will include a sweet potato soup with brown butter labne and cardamom, acorn squash lasagnette with ricotta, kale, sage brown butter, and hazelnuts, rotisserie turkey with whipped parsnip potatoes, cornbread and apple stuffing, roasted brussels sprouts, jus, and citrus cranberry sauce and a pumpkin cheesecake mousse.

201 Park Avenue South. 212-677-0425

