Magical place for muggles

Inside E. Village’s ‘Harry’ coffee shop

A ‘Harry Potter’-inspired coffee shop called Suzanne Hathaway officially opened its doors on Wednesday, introducing a small world of Gothic witches and ‘Harry Potter’ fans to the East Village.

The shop at 56 1/2 E. Sixth St. is full of antique dolls, old scissors, like a 75-year-old snafed out and an aerial bar, real witch posters and an Irish candlestick from the 1930s that streams in the window all day.

We went to its grand opening on Wednesday to get a glimpse into the spooky space. Here’s what you’ll find inside.
