Most happy hours in this city have a bad rap, and for good reason. It's easy to be lured by low prices into drinking something horrible, and watered down well liquor with a cheap mixer does not a cocktail make.

Instead, the bars around New York City on this list offer wonderful deals for happy hour — things like well-executed cocktails under $10, discounted food, running after 7 p.m., and more. There's everything from a great burger and beer deal to dollar oysters and cocktails that are actually boozy and tasty.

Proximity to the Brooklyn Bridge and Manhattan skyline view accompanies $7 cocktails and wine and $5 beer at Sugarcane. Cocktails available range from caipirinhas and mojitos to frosé and “frogronis.” And food-wise, the happy hour has $6 sushi and a range of dishes such as shishito peppers and chicken yakitori, generally under $7. Happy hour at this hot Miami import runs weekdays from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. to close.
