

San Francisco

COWBOY UP

Renegade
LaKeith
Stanfield's
Wild West

OUT OF OFFICE

Atlantis Bahamas
Inspires the Season's
Unplugged Look

Gil Gershoni

The Element of Style
The Bay Area's
Most Dashing
Gents

Warung Siska's
Bakwan corn fritters

WARUNG SISKA

Opened this summer, Warung Siska dishes up modern Indonesian cuisine with fresh, sustainably sourced California ingredients. The eatery is inspired by Indonesian warungs: casual neighborhood eateries that supply home-cooked meals. This atmosphere is embraced by Warung Siska's dining room, which features traditional handpainted fabric pillows, communal tables and an area to view the chefs at work. For Jakarta native chef Siska Silitonga, the menu represents her roots, bringing classic dishes and adaptations of her childhood favorites to the Bay Area. Standout dishes include the Balinese grilled pork jowl with sauteed spinach, tomato relish and peanuts. Likewise, locally sourced craft beers and fine wines are on offer to provide the perfect meal pairings. 917 Main St., Redwood City, 650.393.5515, warungsiska.com ■