La Vie Has Landed

This summer's most talked-about opening is La Goulue Sur Mer, the seaside evolution of the iconic brasserie, now anchored in Southampton. "La Goulue has always been about charm, the finer things and joie de vivre," says co-owner Anthony Punnett, who, alongside friend and partner Joseph DeCristofaro, has brought their lifelong dream to life. "This version just happens to have sand nearby." The space is warm, timeless and made for everything from sunset dinners to late-night lounge vibes. Expect brasserie classics done right—steak frites, loup de Mer Mediterranean, confit de canard—plus rotating specials that show off the East End's freshest flavors that would make even a Parisian pause. 210 Hampton Road, Southampton, lagouluehamptons.com by HAVEN HATHAWAY
