

Tequilas

LOS ALTOS / HIGHLANDS

Located east of Guadalajara in the state of Jalisco, the two main growing regions are Arandas and Atotonilco. These plants reach maturity slower than those in the Lowlands, resulting in a balance of minerality, citrus, tropical fruit and subtle herbaceous characteristics.

LOS VALLES / TEQUILA VALLEY

This region includes the land west of Guadalajara to the Pacific Ocean. The lower altitude and higher temperatures lead to drier, aggressive tequilas with robust and earthy notes.

Blancos

As an unaged tequila bottled within sixty days of double distillation, blanco tequila is blue agave in its purest form.

Reposados

Reposado, or 'rested,' tequilas are aged from two to twelve months in oak barrels. On their own, reposados walk a fine line between zesty and elegant.

Añejos

Añejo, or 'aged' tequilas are aged in government-sealed barrels of no more than 600 liters each for a minimum of one year. The result is a smooth, complex tequila with a rich, mellow finish.

Extra Añejos

Also known as ultra añejos, this term was created in 2006 to label tequilas that had been aged for more than three years. This creates a much darker, smoother and more complex tequila with notes of caramel.

Claros

These aged tequilas are carefully filtered to remove most of the color. The result is an extra smooth, rounded and truly unique tequila.

Mezcal

Para todo mal mezcal y para todo bien, también!

All tequilas are mezcal, but not all mezcal are tequilas. Mezcal has ceremonial, social and medicinal value. Mezcal is the original spirit of Mexico and made by palanqueros following the most traditional ways of making them. The true body and spirit of Mezcal is captured with only three ingredients: water, fire and the maguey. Each mezcal has distinct aromas and flavors that will open your senses to the culture of Mexico.
