CITY OF MIAMI BEACH HONORS A FISH CALLED AVALON ON RESTAURANT'S 30TH ANNIVERSARY

The City of Miami Beach proclaimed Wednesday, December 11th “A Fish Called Avalon Day” on Miami Beach, recognizing the restaurant for 30 years of culinary excellence on Ocean Drive.

The ceremony took place in the Commission Chambers at Miami Beach City Hall, with the commissioners celebrating A Fish Called Avalon for its award-winning cuisine, impeccable service and the freshest seafood delivered daily.

Owner Tom Glassie, Executive Chef Kal Abdalla and Food & Beverage Manager Pascal Pinault presented the Mayor and Commissioners with two of Chef Kal's award-winning Pecan Crusted Key Lime Pies.
