Make Your Thanksgiving Festive This Year In NYC

Thanksgiving is almost here, and while the holiday is all about being thankful for what you have, let's be real... most of our focus is on all of that delicious food! This year, don't worry about hunting down recipes on Pinterest, food shopping for organic root-veggies, or making your tiny NYC apartment look like the front page of a Country Living magazine.

Instead, enjoy a hassle-free Turkey Day by reserving a spot at one of these delicious NYC restaurants that will be open, serving either serving specialty options and/or their regular menus. This isn't a Thanksgiving cop-out—We're just saving you some time and delaying a few gray hairs caused by the typical Thanksgiving stress. And yes, it also means no cleanup for you!

Kingside at Viceroy Central Park

Thoughtfully crafted by Chef Fernando Navas, Kingside inside Viceroy Central Park is offering up a spectacular Thanksgiving meal for New York's city dwellers. Take a look at the $70 pre-fixe menu HERE to see a variety of yummy dishes ranging from Spiced Acorn Squash Soup to Housemade Pumpkin Ravioli and Roasted Heritage Turkey.
