Forbes

31 Fun Cocktails To Try When Embracing The Spirit Of Halloween

By Aly Walansky,

There's so much to love about dressing up or decorating on Halloween. The right costume, makeup, or decor can temporarily reinvent a personality or a space.

The same can be said for cocktails, though. Halloween is a great opportunity to add a little bit of sensory experience into your mixology, with fun presentations, flavors, and garnish. Around the nation, bars and restaurants are doing some pretty exciting things for Halloween, and all of these cocktails look absolutely delicious!

Ghost Orchid

Ghost Orchid at Philippe Chow.
PHILIPPE CHOW

At Philippe Chow 5th Avenue + Philippe Chow Downtown in New York City, available for a limited time from Thursday, October 15 through Saturday, October 31, Philippe Chow is getting into the Halloween spirit with the Ghost Orchid, an enchanting elixir of vodka, lychee, jasmine tea and lemon juice, topped with prosecco. Presented tableside in a dramatic veil of smoke, the limited-edition pour brings a touch of spooky spectacle to Halloween weekend.

"We wanted to create a Halloween cocktail that feels elegant rather than gimmicky. The Ghost Orchid balances premium vodka with lychee, jasmine tea, fresh lemon juice, and prosecco, then arrives at the table beneath a veil of smoke. It is delicate, mysterious and theatrical - very much in the spirit of Philippe Chow," said Maria Maldonado, Senior Bartender.