D O P C E B R E R O S

D.O.P. Cebreros is situated in the center of Spain, in the south of the province of Avila, making border with the provinces of Madrid and Toledo. It is situated in the middle of the Sistema Ibérico Central between the Alberche River Valley and the Tietar Valley River. This is the foothills of the Sierra de Gredos, pulling away both valley rivers, and giving different microclimates. The valley of the Alberche river is more continental with Atlantic influence, and the Tietar river valley is more Mediterranean climate. Both climates give characteristics to the grapes that are grown there, as well as the soils and the altitude where the vines are grown.
